Master in Applied Foreign Languages: Speciality Management and International Business

The two-year Master in Applied Foreign Languages degree is awarded by Sorbonne University in Paris and delivered by world-class academics in Sorbonne University Abu Dhabi. The programme teaches students to master the concepts and techniques relevant to international business whilst enabling them to gain extensive knowledge of core business strategies within a global economic context by learning crucial management concepts in different fields.

Today, successful business leaders must possess both the theoretical and empirical tools that enable them to make structured management decisions taking into account various cultural, financial, commercial, social and political parameters. With this degree, students will grasp various International economics concepts that will enable them to understand how current issues influence international business.

Students will learn the processes of international operations in all their aspects, as well as strengthening their knowledge of business administration techniques. By learning the concepts of business law, students will enhance their comprehension of the legal environment, helping them to decipher legal documents and practices that govern businesses.

Additionally, students will refine their knowledge of research techniques and methodologies of applied research as well as fundamental IT tools and their application in a business context. Moreover, students will develop the requisite managerial and critical thinking skills and knowledge needed in international and cross-cultural environments, learning how to understand human and organisational behaviour, as well as the concepts of international corporate strategy.

The other goal of the program is for students to gain a good understanding of a multicultural environment by undertaking courses in languages and civilisations, as well as cross cultural management. English skills will be improved alongside one or two additional foreign languages including French, Chinese, Spanish, German, Italian or Arabic at beginner, intermediate or advanced levels to cater for multi-lingual business environments.

The curriculum is delivered by professors from France and the UAE. Our faculty has achieved worldwide acclaim and impart a thorough knowledge of international business and languages through lectures, teamwork, case studies, individual assignments, research studies and computer-based interactive business games.

Overview

Programme highlights

Enhancing individual & national development

Within the next decade, the UAE is poised to dedicate its focus towards socio-economic sustainability. The curriculum at Sorbonne University Abu Dhabi is crucial in creating and encouraging a new generation passionate to support the UAE's rapid and ambitious progress.

Given the rapid development of the region, career prospects are enormous for professionals with multilingual skills and the scope of the experiential learning opportunities at Sorbonne University Abu Dhabi will give graduates a competitive edge in their career anywhere in the world.

International recognition

The Master in Applied Foreign Languages is granted by Sorbonne University in Paris. It is recognised worldwide and is the key step to an international career. The Applied Foreign Languages curriculum has been ranked "A" by the French Agency of Evaluation of Higher Education and Research (AERES), which is the highest evaluation.

A dual competency

The Master in Applied Foreign Languages has a unique double accreditation by the French Ministry of Higher Education in both Management and Business Administration and Foreign Languages. Both qualifications will appear on the degree.

An all-in-one degree

The Master in Applied Foreign Languages provides students from various disciplines with an "all-in-one" programme in International Management, similar to an MBA program but with a specific emphasis on multilingual and multicultural skills and capabilities. Moreover, students will improve their knowledge and expertise of foreign languages.

Access to the Sorbonne University Ph.D. program

This programme is the flagship of the Sorbonne University School of International Business and Languages studies and can lead to access for the three year, non-residential doctoral program in International Business and European Studies at Sorbonne University in Paris.

Students can pursue careers as analysts in leading global consultancy firms, product or country managers, or even expand their own businesses into different markets

The degree in Applied Foreign Languages is taught in English and covers a total of four semesters across two years. At the end of this degree, you will have 120 credits. The exclusively designed course schedule includes evening and weekend classes in consideration of students who intend to combine their studies with work.
