Program Overview

In today's dynamic business environment, skilled experts well versed in a multitude of legal principles and international governance play a vital role. Traditional legal systems are becoming gradually complex owing to rapid globalization that demands proficient lawyers with an international perspective. This degree will enhance student's international outlook and provide a substantial analysis of business issues, multi-jurisdictional and regulation of trade in goods, services and capital. Students will learn the fundamentals of International Business including arbitration, contracts, finance, comparative law, intellectual property law, taxation and competition law. The unique curriculum combines theoretical and practical approaches to ensure that students will emerge as accomplished thinkers and problem solvers who will add value in complex international business transactions.

The first year of the curriculum focuses on the integral aspects of business law including corporate law, international tax law, banking law, intellectual property, international trade law and the European market. The second year focuses on the interplay of economic, financial and social forces. Students will gain insight into international business practice including arbitration, contracts, finance, commercial law and legal Business English. Students will master legal reasoning and hone their ability to sustain a debate as well as refine public speaking skills, evaluation, negotiations and decision-making. Students will sharpen their expertise in litigation, particularly those related to international arbitration proceedings. Through constant interaction with peers, students will boost their network and ability to work as part of a team.

Course Title & Advanced contract law – LAW565 Code Instructor Pr. Luc Grynbaum Date 11Sep-22Sep 2-week mission Course Format Credits 7 Graduate- Master 1 Level Semester offered 1 Contact Hours 36h Course The class focuses on the main characteristics of the general rules on contract law making an analysis and a comparison between AEU 1985 Description Law, French Law and Common Law. The class is a class in comparative law with a French Law basis. However, references are made to Emirati Federal Law. Theses references are based on the English translation of the Federal Law n° 5 of 1985 concerning Civil Transactions. Several other UAE Law are also quoted about commercial transactions, Consumer Law or contract by electronic means The purpose of the class is to introduce students to the main issues involved in contract law. It is not aimed at training them at being technical experts in the field. Rather, it aims at giving them an understanding of the main forces that shape contract law. The purpose is for the student to understand that the UAE contract has been inspired by Civil Law, Common Law and Shari'ah. Then they discover that the essential elements of contract are quite the same in each system. Evaluation Oral evaluation -50% class participation -50%

Course	This course is part of Business Law. It includes the study of the Description	different measures and proceedings that may or must be used by distressed entrepreneurs in order to prevent insolvency or, when in trouble, be able to build a restructuring plan or, if impossible, sell or terminate the business and pay the creditors as much as possible.
	Although the course is mainly built on French law and the situation of debtors located in France, it is more as a reference and thinking model that it is useful, as the insolvency law meets legal policy imperatives common to many systems. Furthermore, French law meets the objectives of harmonisation of European law, further enhanced by the transposition in September 2021 of the Restructuring and Insolvency Directive of 20 June 2019.

Course	"Companies", as they are known in British English, or "Corporations", Description	as they are known in American English, are a big part of today's business life. From giants such as Amazon or Microsoft to a local restaurant or deli, most business undertakings fall into the category.
	Whatever the size, the line of business or the way they are managed, most business organizations, as long as they are larger than a family shop are companies.
	As a starter, we could say that studying company law is basically studying what are the legal tools that exist to allow people to create, run and grow a business which is beyond the size of the lone shopkeeper. As such, companies are the most important actors of business life. In other classes, you learn how businesses interact one with another through contracts, how they are allowed to enjoy freedoms in the EU space, and also what can be done when they fail. In this class, you will learn how the Law has developed several legal tools tailored for the needs of businessmen in order to create, run and grow their business. These needs are the same all over the world. They derive directly from what is a business. But the answer to these needs vary in every legal systems. In the UAE, which is an international hub of the world trade, it is important to understand the main forces that shape the modern law of business organizations: You'll deal with partners from all over the world. Each one being set up and working within its own organizational framework. It is important for you to be able to accompany them in making binding agreements as well as in helping them raise the money they need to grow. At a superior level, studying company law is studying the main driving force of economic development. In this class, you will analyze company law provisions in order to examine and question the main forces at play in the field. Based on that analytical work, you will be induced into developing the ability to appraise and design efficient legal solutions. The degree you are enrolled into is a degree in French Law, as such French Law plays a major role. However, the approach is a comparative perspective. This comparative approach is especially important in the UAE context. Federal Emirati Law on companies is heavily influenced by French Law. It shares concepts and methods with it. By studying French Law, you deepen your understanding of the Emirati Federal Law. However, not all companies operating from the UAE are governed by Federal Law. The UAE has several Free zones which allows the incorpo inspired by different legal traditions.

Course	This course covers the concepts and theories related to IP Law.
Description	The course includes a discussion of the French IP system and a comparison with the US and European system. The course will include an overview of the various IP rights (Patents, Trade Marks, Copyright, Neighboring rights), the rights they give to their owners and also the way to protect them.
	Because, in our days IP rights are not national anymore, it's important to understand the basic principles which apply internationally. The European IP law is also essential to have a good understanding of actuals preoccupations. In a digital world, the way to protect IP rights is

Course Description	This course covers some of the fundamental issues that arise under international contracts in global business transactions. Throughout the class, we will touch on the overall goals of (private) international law, and harmonization. The approach is international and comparative, with particular emphasis on the CISG, the european regime and the UN treaties and model laws on international contracts. The aim of the course is to provide broad comparative knowledge, through examples from both common and civil law countries. Where applicable, we will use practical examples and exercises to learn the strategic thinking and essential expertise for international lawyers. The class is interactive, with lots of student participation. The main points addressed in class are: - International contractual litigation; distinction between litigation in state courts and arbitration - State rules and European rules on jurisdiction. Regulation n°1215/2012 on jurisdiction, recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments in civil and commercial matters. Comparison with US rules for out of state and foreign defendants and US rules on recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments Choice of court agreements - The law applicable to international contracts. Texts on the law applicable to international contracts. The importance and the application of international mandatory rules in the field of contracts Some specific contracts : international sale of goods, employment contracts, insurance contracts etc. The course aims to familiarize students with the theoretical and practical challenges associated with international contracts. Students will learn to identify and apply fundamental treaties on international contracts.

	In terms of knowledge 1- Knowledge of the main international instruments pertaining to jurisdiction and applicable law in the field of international contracts 2- Knowledge of main rules on jurisdiction and applicable law in matters relating to contracts 3-Knowledge of the implications of national mandatory rules for international contracts
	4-Main rules on the international sale of goods
	5-Rules applicable to certain specific contracts
	In terms of method
	6-Articulation of conflict of law rules and substantial rules 7-Determination of the scope of application of various international instruments 8-Ability to give a relevant opinion on case studies involving international contracts
	9-Ability to draft dispute resolution and choice of law clauses
	The second part of the course expands the breadth of students' critical thinking as lawyers in a globalized world. It highlights the comparative aspect of international contracts, by focusing on international business transactions from the perspective of the American federal legal system.
	Following a brief introduction to the US common law legal system, students will learn how the US common law system approaches legal issues in practical terms, by studying and analyzing American concepts of jurisdiction in international contexts. Through class discussions, students will dissect judgments from the Supreme Court of the United States that deal with international contracts. As part of the learning outcomes, students learn both the substance of American law on the topic, as well as the difference between the American approach compared to the French and European approaches. The course will also cover the UN Convention on the Sale of Goods, and critically evaluate its application for the future of sales transactions on the blockchain.
	Finally, we will examine the various non-establishment forms of business, and their main characteristics. The class is taught like it would be in a US law school, using the Socratic method to draw
	student participation and encourage discussion and debate on key

Course Description	This course covers the concepts and theories related to international transportation law. 2021 has shown more than ever what is the impact of international transport on world trade and people's life. The Suez Canal blockade by the grounded Evergiven vessel in April 2021or the Yantian Port Covid confinement in June 2021 have caused in few days world supplies disruptions impacting world economies. The course includes a discussion on the evolution on international conventions related to the topic as well as a discussion on the evolution of the contractual practices, including in a post SARS-Cov2 pandemic context. The course includes study of international laws that apply to transport by air, land and sea but also to multimodal transport and logistics for the supply chain. Transport and logistics are key elements driving UAE's growing economy. The role off DP World, as a leading terminal operator around the world, the roles of Etihad and Emirates, as world leading airlines and the international roles of infrastructures such as Jebel Ali and Khalifa ports or Al Maktoum, Dubai and Abu Dhabi airports and their associated logistics free zones underline the importance of acquiring a working knowledge of transportation law when dealing with the business environment of the UAE, the GCC wider region, the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) and the world. Last, every aspect of transport law is nowadays impacted by sustainable development and environmental policies and the course covers these aspects.

Course	•The goal of this seminar is to use comparative law methodologies to Description	deepen our knowledge of the various legal models interacting in international commercial law.
	•Among the most prevailing legal models, the Anglo-American models plays an increasing part in international businesses. So we will first provide a comparative insight of the English tradition as the "alma mater" of the Anglo-American Common Law models (Part I).
	•Then we would like to get an overview of two determining aspects in

	•To do so, we will focus on some specific English Common Law requirements in the contract negotiations, and see from a comparative view point the construction of the pre-contractual liability (Part II).
	Then we will have a comparative insight of corporate law (III) to illustrate how foreign legal models may interact by looking at the new Course Description	In the class of Company law in M1, you studied how businesses are legally structured through their incorporation. However, it is in the nature of things that these companies (meaning both partnerships and corporations) change hands. This class is specifically devoted to this operation : the transfer the control of an business. Actually, the plural must be used because there is not one way to achieve the transfer of control but rather several ways. It can be achieved through the sale of a block of shares, through a takeover bid, through the sale of the assets of the company of through a merger. This class covers all theses subjects. Additionally, it delve on the techniques used to raise the money that is needed to acquire a company (LBO finance) The class relies heavily on prior knowledge in several fields of the law. In particular, it is expected that students are comfortable with : - the concept of corporate entity (or legal personality as it is sometimes known); - the concept of joint-stock company and its internal organization; - the concept of share;

	- the concepts of loan, interests, benefit and dividends;
	In the same way, a knowledge of contract law is required.
	If you do not not feel comfortable with any of these subjects, you should catch up on your own, by additional readings.
	The purpose of the class is to make you aware of the key legal issues that are involved when dealing with this kind of operations.
	The class is intended to help you improve your ability to frame legal questions and hence to find relevant legal answers. Ultimately, you will be able to adapt to differing and changing laws in a global context.
	The class is a class in French law as is the diploma. However, references are also made to Emirati Federal Laws, more specifically to the Federal Law No. 2/2015, issued on 25/03/2015 (Corresponding to 5 Jumada Al-Thani 1436 H) On Commercial Companies (which has replaced the Law on trading companies of 1984), the Law on commercial transactions of 1993 and the Law on civil transactions of 1985.
	The class is structured in lectures, each one focusing on a particular issue, fundamental for the understanding of the process of mergers and acquisitions.
